addition to downtown rejuvenation opportunities that may crop up as owners redevelop, the creation of below-market-rate housing is on the agenda, not just because it is mandated by the state but because it is valuable for the community. I firmly believe housing can be created that fits into our community both physically and socially...it can and will be an asset. The few remaining large parcels of land may be coming forward for development; if that occurs Council will have to adjudicate the careful balance between landowners' legitimate interests in development and the Town's equally legitimate interest in preserving the beauty and tranquility of the community.

What else is happening?

- Utility undergrounding projects will continue (see update elsewhere in this issue);
- Ferry service must and will be retained for the benefit of residents and downtown merchants;

- The multi-use path will be improved for the benefit of its large and diverse constituency;
- The multi-year program to resurface "failed streets" is underway and will continue apace;
- Continued collaboration between the Town and the Reed School District to enhance safety and reduce traffic in getting kids to and from school;
- Further investigation into a Marin-wide effort to use greener sources of energy;
- Collaboration with the Belvedere-Tiburon Library to see its expansion plans come to fruition; and
- Emergency preparedness will continue as a top priority (don't fail to enlist for the upcoming round of the Get Ready programs so you can do your part to help us all survive whatever "big one" comes our way).

In sum, there is no shortage of excitement from a local government standpoint, and all of it ultimately can, and I believe will, result in a community that is more beautiful, more functional and more enjoyable. How's that for optimism?

If we haven't met but you would like to remedy that, please don't hesitate to drop by Town Hall or send me an e-mail at pcurran@ci.tiburon.ca.us. I'd be happy to hear from you.

Getting to Know Tiburon

By Town Manager
Peggy Curran

Well! My first five months on the job have been nothing if not instructive.

I've had the opportunity to see the community come together in almost giddy enthusiasm over the Fountain Plaza and the magical new Coming About work of art that graces it, and also see the community go through the difficulty of navigating a path on the Congregation Kol Shofar expansion.

I've been lucky enough to meet what must be hundreds of citizens by now, and have been impressed by the passion they (you!) have displayed. I'm sure it comes as no surprise to you, but I learned that Tiburon's citizens are anything but indifferent about this lovely place; they care for it very deeply and readily make time for serving both the community and the place. The number of citizens actively engaged in civic affairs is a great testament to a vigorous democracy.

I have also had the pleasure of getting to know the staff that serves Tiburon. From public works crews to police officers to those who serve at Town Hall, I have inherited a remarkable group of men and women that make me, and should make you, proud. They are knowledgeable, earnest, hard-working and caring. I will also have an announcement to make soon about a new Chief of Police, a person I believe will be a great new leader for the department and an asset for the whole community.

Getting to know this Town Council has also been a pleasure. We are fortunate to have a great team in office, a reflection of a community that engenders good governance and responsible stewardship.

What else have I observed? That part of our downtown — the area stretching from the Library to Main Street — could use some revitalization. Wouldn't a pharmacy be great? Wouldn't it be great if that stretch of town were more walkable and less car-oriented (read parking in the rear instead of along the streetfront)? These are not my ideas — they exist in the Town's General Plan — but in my estimation they are right on target.

And speaking of downtown, there is much to celebrate and many activities to join. Of course, Friday Nights on Main Street (May to October) continues strong and, most importantly, attracts many locals every week. Other community events are on the calendar again including the classic car show and the wine festival. An art festival is in the works as well. These events are good for local merchants and make the community a more vibrant place in which to live. They reinforce the whole notion of community: a place where people know each other and share values and activities.

There will be big challenges facing the town in the next few years. In

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

MMWD PLANS ENHANCED WATER SUPPLY AND IMPROVEMENT OF MULTI-USE PATH

*By Director of Public Works/ Town Engineer
Nicholas Nguyen*

The Marin Municipal Water District (MMWD) is in the midst of upgrading its 2004-05 Fire Flow Master Plan in order to enhance the area's water supply in the event of a natural disaster. The pipes along the Town's multi-use path represent the main water supply to Tiburon; a one-mile pipeline between South of the Knoll and Lagoon Road is slated for replacement this summer.

The Town has issued an encroachment permit with extensive conditions of approval to ensure that the construction is carried out in a safe and timely manner and will enhance the present condition of the path. Input from the Town's Bicycle and Pedestrian Advisory Committee and the Town Council was part of the approval process.

Construction will be carried out in phases

LYFORD COVE & DEL MAR UNDERGROUNDING DISTRICTS

The Lyford Cove Utility Undergrounding project (approximately 228 properties) is proceeding well and, in some areas, the work is ahead of schedule. Approximately 60% of the joint trench and service lateral construction is complete. Only Paradise Drive remains to be finished.

The accompanying utility vaults have been installed with the anticipation that the work will be completed within the budgeted time frame of July 2007. It is important to remember that when the joint trench and service lateral work is complete, the project will be turned over to the utility companies to make their conversions. The Town's portion of the project will be complete at that time, but we will be on hand to provide support, as needed.

Once all the lateral conversions are finished, the poles will be removed. The Town urges those few residents who haven't completed their trenching/service lateral work for their property to do so as soon as possible.

The Del Mar Utility Undergrounding (approximately 221 properties) project remains delayed by litigation, despite the so that the path will remain open throughout the project. No interruption in water service is anticipated during the main pipeline replacement; however, there may be brief interruptions during construction to connect lateral pipelines at certain junctures along the path. MMWD will notify its customers of these dates and times in advance.

Because of the popularity of this much-used recreational area, a good deal of attention was paid to matters of restoration. The entire 10-foot width of the paved portion of the multi-use path will be resurfaced with asphalt and the decomposed granite path will be completely restored. A new 3- to 4-foot wide decomposed granite pathway is slated for construction on the opposite side of the paved pathway to provide an overall safer and more enjoyable experience for users of the path.

Construction is anticipated to begin in May and to finish in late September. MMWD will hold a public information meeting approximately 30 days prior to construction in order to provide the latest details.

Town's diligent efforts. The Court of Appeals rejected the first challenge to the project; however, the second suit in the Marin Superior Court may remain in contention for some time. The Town has won virtually every substantive ruling in that case and is confident that the suit will ultimately be resolved in the Town's favor.

Aside from the litigation uncertainty, the Del Mar project is ready to go to construction. For the time being, the low contract bidder (Ranger Pipelines, Inc.) is holding their bid prices on a month-to-month basis. Right-of-way improvement plans are complete, the supplemental assessment spread is complete and ready for Town Council confirmation, and PG&E, Comcast, and AT&T are ready to participate.

The Hawthorne-Pilgrim Heights Undergrounding area, consisting of approximately 89 properties, is the next potential utility undergrounding district. The property owners and the Town Council will be deciding whether or not to move forward with formation of this district later in 2007.

AN EXAMPLE OF A FAILED STREET (MAR WEST).

2007 Street Improvement

2007 is shaping up as another dynamic year for street improvement.

Failed Streets

The Town Council has allocated funds to reduce the backlog of "failed streets," in addition to the regular yearly work of overlays and other improvements. Engineers consider "failed streets" as those that have dropped below a certain technical standard; the public knows them from their significant signs of distress and resultant bumpy rides. Improvement to the street may require a combination of complete replacement, base repair, and a thick overlay with a mix of asphalt concrete, a much more expensive process than a simple overlay. This year, the work will focus on streets in the upper Lyford Drive area. Bidding for the project is expected to occur in the spring and construction to be complete in late summer.

New Sidewalk on Mar West

In order to capitalize on improvements in the area as a result of the recent construction at the Tiburon Peninsula Club, a paved sidewalk (bike/walking path) will be added between the TPC and Tiburon Boulevard at

Help Keep Tiburon Boulevard Median Strip Beautiful!

Several years ago, a group of citizens, businesses and civic organizations transformed the weed-strewn median strip from the freeway to Blackie's Pasture into a beautiful gateway to our community. This public garden does not maintain itself; we, the community, must provide funds to replant dead plants as well as maintain the rock drainage areas. These rocks have a tendency to disappear! The Town of Tiburon pays for most of the monthly maintenance but donations must cover the rest. Our needs are for plants, rock replacement and maintenance. WE NEED YOUR HELP!

Angel Island - A Hidden Treasure in 94920

Want to go island-hopping but don't have the time to fly to Hawaii or to Manhattan? Well, stay right here in Tiburon and visit one of the most beautiful and interesting islands in the world. That's right. Angel Island State Park is part of the Town of Tiburon. It only takes 20 minutes to get there and there are no visas required or security checkpoints to go through.

Actually, not all of Angel Island is in Tiburon. A little less than two percent is in the City and County of San Francisco. Challenge your friends to guess which Marin County city has a common land border with San Francisco and they will probably guess Sausalito. Several generations ago, map makers drew a line from San Francisco to Red Rock (near the Richmond Bridge) and it cut right through Fort McDowell on the east side of Angel Island.

As part of a resident's incorporation planning committee, we drew the map of the future Town of Tiburon in 1963. We also had to decide what to do about Angel Island. Some of the committee felt that because it was already a state park we would have little to say about what happened there. They were right, of course; the state superseded the town and owned the island. Some of us felt that the island was "there" and we wanted at least a say in any future development. We drew the town's east boundary around the island.

I represented the Incorporation Committee at the Boundary Commission hearings. The forerunner of LAFCO, the Boundary Commission was made up of members of the Board of Supervisors who were unhappy with our choice of boundary. When pressured, they admitted that they wanted any sales or hotel taxes that might be generated by future development of Angel Island. I suggested that we would make a deal with them: If the County agreed to cover any future cost to Tiburon in the way of police, traffic, parking, etc., then the island would stay in unincorporated Marin County. After a whispered conference, the Commissioners announced that Angel Island could remain part of Tiburon.

It did not mean very much then, but as San Francisco developed various schemes to turn Angel Island into a "Coney Island of the West" allowed us to gently remind them that the island was in Tiburon and only a very small portion was in San Francisco. Having a full-time lobbyist in Sacramento allowed San

By Town Historian Branwell Fanning

Francisco to pressure the state into building an elaborate entrance to the island on their 2% so that any sales taxes would be collected in their territory. That did not work, and the dock and buildings are mostly unused. Ayala Cove, located in Tiburon, remains the primary entrance.

Local politics aside, Angel Island has a fascinating history. The Miwok Indians left substantial evidence of many lengthy visits but no permanent settlements. They were there to greet Juan Manuel de Ayala when he anchored the San Carlos there in 1775. During the great land grant giveaway, the Mexican governors gave the island to a single favorite but included a proviso for military use. After California became independent from Mexico and then joined the Union, the Army exercised that option and the island began a long period of military occupation.

Camp Reynolds and several gun battery sites were developed during the Civil War. Fort McDowell was built after the Spanish American War, was expanded for World War I and again in World War II, and then became a major part of the San Francisco Port of Embarkation. More than 300,000 men passed through Angel Island en route to the battlefields of the Pacific.

Between the Civil War and World War II, other federal departments transferred operations from San Francisco to Angel Island. The U.S. Public Health Service opened a quarantine station at Ayala Cove. For a while all passengers arriving from Asian ports were transferred to Angel Island where they were held until a quarantine period had passed. That period could last many weeks. All but three of the forty Quarantine Station buildings have since been destroyed.

Perhaps more notorious was the establishment of an immigration station after the passing of the Chinese Exclusion Act. The Act banned only Chinese laborers from immigrating or visiting the U.S. Many arriving Chinese were held for months while officials decided who were laborers and who were merchants or professors. The Immigration Station is now being restored under the watchful eyes of the Angel Island Immigration Station Foundation and will reopen to the public soon.

There have been many other uses of "our" island. Several beautiful lighthouses were constructed and then destroyed. Prisoners of War were held there during World War II along with 700 crewmen from a German luxury liner scuttled in U.S. waters just before the beginning of the war. A NIKE missile base was installed during the Cold War and then abandoned. And lately, a beautiful Christmas tree has appeared on the top of newly restored Mount Livermore.

But most of all, now it is just a wonderful place to picnic, camp, hike, wade, or just explore one of the Bay Area's most beautiful and historic sites, right here in our own backyard.

Should I Call The Police?

By Police Sergeant
Steve Hahn

The answer is, YES! When in doubt please call right away. The Tiburon Police Department is happy to respond to crime or suspicious circumstance calls 24 hours a day. In fact, our officers get upset when people don't call right away. It is very common for us to get calls from people who heard or saw something suspicious during the night but waited until the next morning to call it in.

Some people explain that they didn't want to bother us in the middle of the night or they weren't sure if their call was important enough for the police to be disturbed. Our advice to you is, PLEASE CALL so we can respond immediately and hopefully a crime can be interrupted, or a drunk driver can be removed from the roadway before anyone is hurt, or someone's property can be saved from damage, destruction or theft.

If you see or hear any of the following things we want you to call immediately:

- A suspicious person
- A suspicious vehicle
- A reckless or possibly drunk driver
- An intoxicated subject on a public street or in a public area

- A domestic dispute
- Any "In Progress" crime
- The sound of gunshots
- Broken water lines
- Major storm damage such as tree or power lines down in the street, flooding,
- Traffic signals out, or significant damage to buildings
- A significant traffic accident (major damage or possible injuries)
- Any suspicious circumstance that concerns you enough to consider calling. A dispatcher will take the information and pass it on to the officers who will respond.

Of course, if you are the victim of a crime or if you are involved in a traffic accident and need a report, we are also available any time day or night to take your call.

We would rather be called when something is happening and find out that we aren't needed than to find out later that we were needed and weren't called in time to help. Successful police work is a partnership between the Police Department and the public we serve. With your help we can multiply our effectiveness and keep Tiburon the safe and secure town we have all come to enjoy.

To report incidents to the Tiburon Police Department call 789-2800 or, in an emergency, dial 911.

STREET IMPROVEMENT

Mar West Street. Mar West Street between Tiburon Boulevard and Esperanza will also be resurfaced this year, and Esperanza Street between Mar West and Centro West will be resurfaced as part of this overall project.

Streets in Underground Districts

The Town adopted a cost-sharing policy in 2005 with members of underground utility districts in order to re-pave streets damaged as a result of work within these districts. The streets within the Lyford Cove Underground District and the Centro West/Raccoon Underground District will be resurfaced, beginning in late summer.

For all street improvement projects, nearby neighborhood staging areas will be sought to mitigate the impact of the anticipated construction and traffic on the Town as a whole.

TIBURON'S NEWEST OFFICER

OFFICER STEVE ARANA

By Interim Chief of Police
Dave Hutton

I had the privilege of introducing Officer Steve Arana at the January 17, 2007 Town Council meeting. Steve has an extensive background in the United States Coast Guard, with 10 years of service. Steve's peers in the Coast Guard described him as a "go to" guy, someone who could always be depended upon in a crisis.

After Steve's tour of duty in the Coast Guard was up, he went to work as a police officer on the Coast Guard's base at Two Rock in Petaluma. During that time, Steve put himself through the extended police academy. This is a year-long commitment, with training on nights and weekends. Steve was successful in obtaining his POST (Peace Officer's Standards and Training) accreditation.

Steve was born and raised in Brooklyn, New York, where he lived with his parents and two siblings. Steve's parents are originally from Colombia and he speaks fluent Spanish.

Please join me in welcoming Officer Steve Arana to Tiburon.

Get Ready for Disaster!

By *Emergency Services
Coordinator
Laurie Nilsen*

In the event of a major disaster, such as an earthquake, it could take numerous days for overwhelmed emergency personnel to reach you.

At any given time there are a maximum of nine firefighters and five police officers on duty in Tiburon and Belvedere, which have a combined population of approximately 10,000.

At times there are as few as five firefighters and three police officers for both cities. Most of the off-duty emergency personnel live outside of Marin County and will be unable to respond to Belvedere and Tiburon due to road closures and traffic issues. Therefore, emergency personnel will have to prioritize and respond to the most life-threatening calls first and may not be able to respond when you call for help.

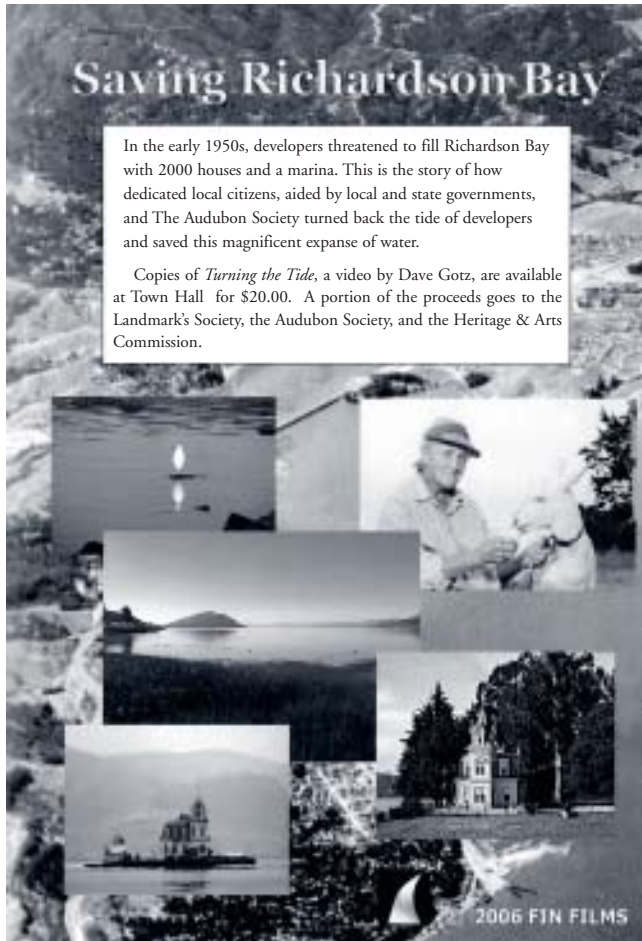

Do yourself, and your family, a life-saving favor and attend a Get Ready class. These free, two-hour courses provide valuable information on how to prepare for, and survive, a disaster of any type.

The Get Ready program has trained at least one person in each of 1500 homes so far. This means that 31% of households on our Peninsula are trained to survive a disaster. If you are among the 69% who has not attended one of these free classes, ask yourself, "Am I and my family prepared to survive on our own for a minimum of three days in the event and aftermath of a major disaster such as an earthquake?"

Saving Richardson Bay

In the early 1950s, developers threatened to fill Richardson Bay with 2000 houses and a marina. This is the story of how dedicated local citizens, aided by local and state governments, and The Audubon Society turned back the tide of developers and saved this magnificent expanse of water.

Copies of Turning the Tide, a video by Dave Gotz, are available at Town Hall for $20.00. A portion of the proceeds goes to the Landmark's Society, the Audubon Society, and the Heritage & Arts Commission.

Planning Projects Update

By *Planning Manager
Dan Watrous*

The two largest private recreation centers in Tiburon have been undergoing major changes. The Belvedere Tennis Club (BTC) has begun construction of its expansion project. The project will include the construction of a new two-story clubhouse, locker rooms and restrooms, a new swimming pool and spa, a fitness center, and outdoor decks facing the tennis courts.

As BTC begins its project, the Tiburon Peninsula Club (TPC) has completed its expansion. The new TPC facilities include a new 6,000-square-foot, single-story clubhouse; a new locker room building; an addition to the existing fitness center; two additional swim lanes added to the existing main swimming pool; two new unlighted tennis courts on the south side of Mar West Street; and relocation of all parking to a more formalized parking area on the south side of Mar West Street.

A number of residential projects in Tiburon are currently in various stages of the application process:

Tiburon Glen, located along Paradise Drive near Norman Way, has received Town Council approval to develop three homes on a 26 acre site, and is in the process of preparing the necessary subdivision maps.

Tiburon Court, on the south side of Trestle Glen Boulevard, has also received approvals to develop three homes on a 13.4 acre property, and is seeking final subdivision map approvals.

The Parente Vista project, situated above Antonette Drive near Taylor Road, is a recently submitted revised Precise Development Plan application to develop two homes, along with a guest home, tennis court and pool area, on a 10.3 acre site.

The Ling project, situated above Tiburon Boulevard at the end of Stony Hill Road, is being revised for a Precise Development Plan application to develop three homes on a 5.6 acre property.

SODA/Rabin, located between Paradise Drive and Hacienda Drive, is preparing to submit a Precise Development Plan application to develop a 51 acre property with approximately 15 new homes.

In addition, the Town is monitoring the progress of several residential projects under review by Marin County located in unincorporated land within the Tiburon planning area, including the Martha, Sorokko and Pan Pacific ("Habitat for Humanity") projects. Town staff is providing input to the County on these projects as they proceed through the development review process.
